New York Stock Market

New fork, October 3.—The stock market to-day gave further evidence of passing out of the hands of the narrow element of board-room traders, which has engrossed the dealings for many weeks past. Instead of that, there were signs of a re-entry of operators of larger resources and of a broader scope in method. The reappearance on the tape of blocks of 1,000 to 7,500 shares of United States Steel was regarded as suggestive in this direction. This development gave rise to busy conjecture over the personality thus indirectly disclosed in the dealings. The effect was to renew the congestion of the dealings in a handful of speculative favorities and to throw out the balance of the market again. The early part of the day saw a continuance of favor for specialties and securities of a minor class, or which are not often active in the market. The appearance of growing breadth, which was a feature on this account of last week's market, was altered as the day progressed, and the concentration in United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific because more pronounced Prices were not well held in the latter part of the day, and the closing was rather weak.

The board-room traders expressed their solicitude over the Saturday bank statement by selling stocks after the opening. These offerings were so aggressively absorbed that the traders were driven to retreat and they helped the advance by robuying stocks. The first question for call loans vas at 3-4 per cent. and the fixing of the renewal rate at that figure quieted any apprehension that was caused by the $5,000,000 figures to which the actual surplus had sunk in the Saturday bank statement. It was evident that the heavy decline in cash holdings last week was attributed to temporary causes and that confidence was felt in an early return of part of that cash.

The New York money market usually responds more slowly to the passing of

While there was tremendous realizing, the market advanced to 14.13 for December and 14.31 for _arch before there was any reaction of consequence. Even then efforts were so well absorbed that after selling off some 15 to 25 points from the top, the market again rallied, and at the close was firm, with last prices 20 to 30 points above the closing figures of Saturday. Business was more general than at any time since last May, for the excitement which attended the closing phases of the old crop bull campaign did not represent such widespread interest as the market now appears to be attracting, owing to an apprehension that another small crop is to follow. For the past two or three weeks the market has shown an advancing tendency, based upon a bullish view of crop prospects, and it now appears who were prominently connected with the movement of last season are already accumulating large holdings in anticlipation of further high prices. The effect of this buying has been considerable, and before the government's condition figures were issued to day December contracts, which had sold at 12.83 last month were selling at 12.94 while March contracts, which had sold at 12.83 last month were selling at 13.94 while March contracts, which had sold at 12.83 right contracts, which had sold at 12.85 after the culmination of the old crop bull campaign, had advanced to 14.12. DRY GOODS MARKET. DRY GOODS MARKET. New York, October 3.—The bullish report on cotton has led to turther firmness in the cotton goods market, although trading his still of a moderate character. Jobbers are covering their October and November requirements more freely. Jewish holiday will interrupt business in the primary market for a few days. Dress goods are in the primary market for a	day's government report on the condition of the cotton crop did not fully bear out some of the extremely bullish private estimates, it was bullish private end of consequence, while there was tremendous realizing, the market advanced to 14.13 for December and 14.31 for _arch before there was any reaction of consequence, Even then efforts were so well absorbed that after selling off some 15 to 25 points from the top, the market again rallied, and at the close was firm, with last prices 20 to 36 points above the closing figures of Saturday. Bushness was more general than at any time since last May, for the excitement which attended the closing phases of the old crop bull campaign did not represent such widespread interest as the market now appears to be attracting, owing to an apprehension that another small crop is to follow. For the past two or three weeks the market has shown an advancing tendency, based upon a bullish view of crop prospects, and it now appears that some of the same bull leaders who were prominently connected with the movement of last season are already accumulating large holdings in anticlpation of further high prices. The effect of this buying has been considerable, and before the government's condition figures were issued to-day December contracts, which had sold at 12.83 after the culmination of the old crop bull campaign, had advanced to 14.12. While the acreage this year is larger than last season, bull authorities assert that the crop this year is larger than last season, bull authorities assert that the crop this year is larger than last season, bull authorities assert that the crop this year is larger than last season, bull authorities assert that calculation based upon the condition
